HUNS DELIVER HEAVY BLOWS; PRESIDENT ASKS NEW TAX LAW

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES CONGRESS AND DEMANDS SOLONS REMAIN IN SESSION UNTIL NEW REVENUE LAW IS ENACTED

LUXURIES, INCOMES AND EXCESS PROFITS MUST BEAR BRUNT OF INCREASED TAXES, DECLARES PRESIDENT, AND LEADERS GET BUSY TO FOLLOW HIS SUGGESTIONS.

SHATTERS ANOTHER PRECEDENT WHEN HE FINISHES MANUSCRIPT AND ADDRESSES SOLONS, TENDERING HIGH COMPLIMENTS

LAY ASIDE POLITICS AND OTHER MATTERS AND TAKE PROMPT ACTION IS DEMANDED BY WILSON, WHO IS CHEERED WILDLY BY CROWDED GALLERIES AFTER HE POINTS OUT DUTY OF CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(Associated Press Dispatch)—Just as the German cannon were thundering their herald of the renewed offensive on the western front, President Wilson today appeared unexpectedly before Congress and demanded that, laying political considerations and all other matters aside, it remain in session until it has enacted new war tax laws to finance the growing cost of the war and prepare the country for the burden it must bear.

President Wilson declared it was necessary to proceed immediately with the new tax laws.

Plans which might have delayed the work but which involved a working agreement between both parties have fallen through, the President told Congress, and there was no way to meet the problem of financing the war but to have Congress remain in session.

He called upon Congress to eliminate politics from the consideration. Politics, he said, is "adjourned." The principal increases in taxation, the President said, should be on incomes, war profits and luxuries.

It would be manifestly unfair to wait until 1919 before determining what the new taxes would be, he said. The President's address was comparatively brief, taking less than fifteen minutes.

In specific terms the President gave distinct warning against lobbying in connection with the new bill.

There is indisputable evidence of profiteering at present, he said, and he declared it must be reached by legislation.

"Profiteering that cannot be got at by restraints to conscience," said the President, "can be got at by taxation."

"There need be no hesitancy in taxing the country," he told Congress, "if it were taxed justly." He appealed to Congress to approach the great task without stopping at political consequences.

"An intense and pitiless light beats upon every man and every action in the tragic part of war that is now upon the stage," he said.

The President concluded with an appeal to Congress to do its work ungrudgingly and said he could not guarantee a proper administration of the Treasury unless the questions were settled at once.

At the conclusion of the address the President, pausing, laid his hands over his manuscript and added another precedent-breaker to the long list he has established in his dealings with Congress. He addressed Congress extemporaneously, giving them earnestly and forcefully while his auditors sat in wrapt and surprised silence.

"May I add this word, gentlemen?" said he.

"Just as I was leaving the White House I was told the expected drive on the western front had apparently begun. You can realize solemnly my feeling as I came to you and how it seems to strengthen the purpose which I have tried to express in these lines."

"I have admired the work of this session. The way in which the two Houses of Congress have cooperated with the executive has been generous and admirable, and it is not in the spirit of suggesting duty neglected, but only to remind you of the common cause and the common obligations that I have ventured to come to you today."

The crowded galleries and the House and Senate rose and cheered loudly when he declared hundreds of thousands of troops in the field and ships are crowding to the front with regiment after regiment to join them until the enemy shall be beaten and brought to a reckoning with mankind.

Majority Leader Kitchin announced that he will immediately begin plans for revenue legislation, and Chairman Simmons, of the Senate Finance Committee held a conference immediately after the speech to discuss framing the legislation.

Republican Leader Gillette of the House said of the speech:

"Everybody will agree on the three subjects of taxation outlined in the message—incomes, excess profits and luxuries. I am thoroughly in accord with the policy," he announced.

Senator Chamberlain said: "The President stated plainly and concisely the necessities of the situation which require legislation. We must have the money and the only way to get it is by taxation. There is much force in the position he takes that legislation must be had before the beginning of next year so the people may adjust themselves to it."

It was decided at the Simmons-Kitchin conference to have the House Ways and Means Committee begin hearings on the bill early in July. The hearings are expected to have about three weeks and afterward the Senate Finance Committee plans to cooperate with the House committee in drafting the new measure.

BIG BOOST IS MADE IN RAILROAD RATES

Twenty-five Percent Increase in Freight Rates and Boost to Three Cents Per Mile in Passenger Fares Announced.

Passenger Fare Boost Effective June 10, and Freight Rate Increase June 25.

Action Necessary by Reason of Wage Advance and Operation Cost, It Is Explained.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 27.—To meet wage increases just announced and higher costs of coal and other supplies, Director General McAdoo today ordered railroad freight rates raised 25 per cent and passenger fares increased to 3 cents per mile from the present basis of 2 1/2 cents.

It is estimated the program will bring $800,000,000 to $900,000,000 more revenues to the railroads within the next year. It represents by far the biggest rate increase in the history of railroads.

The new freight charges which cover both class and commodity rates become effective June 25th, and the passenger increases will go into effect June 10th.

Issued under authority granted by the railroad act to President Wilson, acting through the Director General, the order wipes out all inter-state lower rates effective on either freight or passenger traffic.

Travelers in standard sleeping and parlor cars are required to pay 3 1/2 cents per mile in addition to Pullman fares and in tourist Pullman cars 3 1/4 cents. Pullman rates are unchanged.

Commutation and other suburban rates on railroads are increased 10 per cent. Fares on electric interurban lines are not affected.

Special excursion, mileage and tourists, with a few exceptions, discontinued. Privileges of stop-overs and free side trips are abolished and excess baggage charges are increased.

Both freight and passenger rates on boat lines operated on the lakes, rivers or coastwise by railroads are to be raised proportionately with the general increase.

Export and import freight rates are cancelled and the higher domestic rates will apply to and from ports.

A number of flat increases instead of percentage addition are ordered for coal, coke, lumber, ore, grain, cotton, live stock, meats, sugar, bullion, and other commodities.

Existing differentials and rates relationship between various localities are to be preserved so far as possible but many readjustments will have to be made later. All rates are subject to review and correction by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In announcing that the rate increases are required by public interest, Director General McAdoo referred to the $300,000,000 added to the payrolls under an order published today to the rapidly rising cost of coal which he estimated this year alone at $160,000,000 more than last year, and to the higher cost of every other material entering into railroad transportation.

EXCEPTIONS MADE

Exceptions to the three cent rate are made to soldiers and sailors who may travel at one cent a mile when on furlough at their own expense and for persons attending national encampments of the G. A. R. at Portland, Oregon and the United Confederate Veterans reunion at Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Both these organizations are permitted rates of one cent per mile. And for various state meetings of the veterans, two cents per mile.

CASUALTY LISTS

By Associated Press Dispatch. Washington, May 27.—The casualty list today contained only 19 names. Nine were killed in action.

Jerry A. Brown, of Columbus, Ohio, is reported missing in action.

GAINS SMALL

(Associated Press Cable) With the British army in France May 27.—Latest reports show the Germans have made some small progress in places.

The attack of the Germans in the sector northwest of Kemmel appeared to be directed against the ground captured by the French on May 20.

Belgian troops have recorded fresh victories over the Germans and on Saturday night repulsed Teuton attacks and big raids on three sectors of the front.

The German attack against the Entente positions north of Kemmel was launched at 4:30 o'clock this morning after a heavy bombardment. There was great activity on the part of the enemy in several sectors between Arras and Albert early this morning but no infantry movements had been reported up to ten o'clock.

GEN. WOOD IS LEFT BEHIND

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, May 27.—Major General Leonard Wood will not accompany his division at Camp Funston, Kansas, when it finally moves overseas, but it was understood today he will go to the command of the Department of the West with headquarters at San Francisco.

BATTLE RAGES OVER MUCH OF FORTY MILE FRONT BETWEEN RHEIMS AND SOISSONS AND NINE MILES BETWEEN LOCRE AND VOORMEEZEELE—COMPARATIVE QUIET ON SOMME FRONT.

STRONG GERMAN ATTACKS

London, May 27.—(Associated Press Cable)—A strong German attack developed early this morning against the British and French positions between Rheims and Soissons, the war office announces.

The Germans also attacked this morning in Flanders between Locre and Voormezele, on the northern side of the Lys salient. The attacks were preceded by a heavy bombardment.

ATTACK ON FRENCH FRONT

Paris, May 27.—(Associated Press Cable)—Over the front between the Forest of Pinon and Rheims the Germans launched an attack this morning, thus breaking up the British front and to strike for Paris in the south in an effort aimed mainly at the French.

(By Associated Press Dispatch)

Germany has resumed her drive on the western front after a lapse of nearly four weeks, striking between Rheims and Soissons, and in Flanders on the northerly side of the Lys salient.

While it is too early for the true German intention to be disclosed, the efforts apparently is simultaneously to push through to the ports in the north, thus breaking up the British front and to strike for Paris in the south in an effort aimed mainly at the French.

The main fields of the German attack begun last March and halted after the disastrous enemy reverse in Flanders late in April—the Somme region in the direction of Aimeux—has been neglected by the German command in his new thrust.

The southern blow which covers a front of 40 miles and apparently is by far the more important of the two, has come at a point which has not been considered the most probable field for a renewal of the German attack. The fact that both British and French troops are found holding this front, however, gives indication that General Foch, the allied commander-in-chief, has hardly been caught napping and has large forces massed there.

It was on this front between the tip of the Montdidier salient and Rheims that the enemy flank was thought dangerously exposed and where he must have felt himself most vulnerable to a counter blow. If this attack here is neither a demonstration in force to cover the main effort elsewhere, or a veritable drive at Paris, the possibility remains that it was launched with the intention of driving the allies from the advantageous positions along the Oise and the Ailette rivers and thus forestalling a flanking counter effort by Foch's great reserve army.

The stroke in Flanders covering a front of less than ten miles is nevertheless aimed at points which the Germans must take before they can hope to carry out their April advance further toward the coast.

Behind the Locre—Voormezele area lie the hills which constitute the backbone of the allied positions, only the outlying peaks of which the Germans captured when they took Mont Kemmel last month.

The allied positions along both fronts of the attack are notably strong. This is particularly true of the southerly line guarded by the rivers Oise and Ailette.

In the north the French recently have strengthened their hold on the hill region by pushing forward in the Locre sector and capturing high ground.

In general the allies seem well prepared for the thrust and while they appeared likely to be forced to give ground at points, the opinion of their high command has been reflected as confident of preventing the Germans from obtaining anything decisive.

FAYETTE WAR CHEST MAY HAVE $185,000

Reports Still Coming in With Total of $175,000 Reported to Date, Including $70,000 from the City.

Some Who Were Missed Are Voluntarily Making Subscriptions.

Work of Visiting the Slackers Is Now Under Way.

The Fayette County War Chest has passed $175,000 and is still growing as belated returns continue to reach War Chest headquarters.

Chairman M. S. Daugherty announced Monday morning that when the total figures are available they may reach $185,000 or even more.

Returns available up to late Saturday night showed in excess of $175,000 returned, and additional reports reaching headquarters since that time have placed the figures above the $175,000 mark.

Every precinct in the county went over the top in good shape, some of them more than doubling their quotas.

In this city the quota of $35,000 was more than doubled, the amount Saturday night standing at slightly in excess of $70,000, with additional funds trickling in to swell the total.

It will probably be several days before exact figures are available as many persons who were not visited by the workers, or who were not at home when the workers were around to see them, are anxious to be among the donors to the big fund, and are applying to the workers and to War Chest Headquarters in the court house.

Also the few slackers who have failed to "come across" remain to be visited, and the War Work Council has been agreeably surprised as to the small number of persons who have refused to give, or who have subscribed sums that are ridiculously small considering the income of the subscriber.

Saturday night the number of telephone calls clearly indicated the deep interest that has been taken in the outcome of the big drive, and all expressed profound satisfaction when they learned that the $175,000 mark had been attained.

The tireless work of all concerned in the campaign has been highly pleasing to the Fayette County War Work Council and to the citizens in general and the liberal response to the call for war funds has fully maintained the traditions of Fayette county patriotism, and reflects great honor upon the county and the citizenship in general.

3. The text of the evening was written by a Roman prisoner. He is writing a letter to church at Philippi. In the third chapter thirteenth and fourteenth verses are these words, "But one thing I do forgetting the things which are behind I press on towards the goal, unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." This text is the expression of three of the great underlying principles of Paul's life.

1. Faith.

1. In the divine, never for a moment in his arduous life in that sinful and transitional age did Paul doubt, but that "behind the dim unknown standeth God within the shadow keeping watch above his own. In this time of war and world awakening we need to again revive the "faith of our father." If America is to lead the world she must be true to their ideals. An article in the Wall Street Journal says: "What America needs is a revival of piety—the kind father and mother used to have—piety that counted it good business to stop for daily prayer before breakfast, right in the middle of harvest; that quit work in the field a half an hour early on Wednesday night so they might go to prayer meeting. That's what we need now in this country to clean it of its filth of graft and of greed. We are worshipping what decaying nations fell down and worshipped before their light went out." May we in these times of gloom see Him who is the light of the world as did Paul.

2. In the writing of this letter Paul showed his faith in his fellow men.

The world's history has been made by men and women of vision.

Tell me of your visions tonight and I will read your future.

3. Service

1. Paul had dedicated his life to the "high calling," and constrained by love all service and sacrifice was a joy. The one note that needs to ring out in these times is the note of service.

2. Our greatest contribution to the world is that of a noble life, that as we walk along life's pathway our journey may be an inspiration to other to live nobler.

3. Loyalty to the truth as it is revealed in the one who said, I am the Truth, Paul said "whose I am and whom I serve." No man can attain the highest success, who has not surrendered his life to the one character that is the impersonation of the Truth. When the world does this men will again be brothers and the golden age will dawn.

GREAT CROWD BIDS FAREWELL TO MEN LEAVING FOR CAMP

Seventy-eight Sturdy Sons of Old Fayette Take Departure for Camp Sherman—Fond Farewells and Hearty Well Wishes Come from Host of Friends at Union Station.

It was a mammoth crowd that assembled at the Union Station Monday morning at nine o'clock to bid farewell and Good-speed to the young men taking their departure for Camp Sherman to train for fighting the Germans.

Seventy-eight men were sent to camp, four of the total number called failing to appear—Harlow Goffman not arriving from California in time; Ralph Stein being in the Marines, and Bernard Calvin Hines and Clarence Dwight Steele, the latter two being the only ones failing to report, who so far as know, having no good excuse.

There was little demonstration on the part of the big crowd of friends who assembled to see the boys off, but there was many a low-spoken word of good wishes, hand clasps and sobs as loved ones stood reluctant to see the boys go.

When the train arrived and all were on board the sturdy men shouted farewell, most of them with smiles on their lips, a few with tears in their eyes, and all with the determination to do their best while doing their bit for Uncle Sam. As the train moved off a chorus of good-byes arose from the crowd, and hats and handkerchiefs were waved.

The 78 men who took their departure formed by far the largest contingent leaving the county since Company M entrained for France.

Ralph W. Cline was the man in charge of the contingent. Lieutenant Givens, of Camp Sherman, who assisted in the work of checking up and completing the detailed work necessary before the contingent departed, was in supreme command of the contingent.

The men reported for service Sunday morning, and were checked up, given instructions as to what to wear and what to do, and after being photographed by Photographer Hays, were dismissed until Monday morning.

The departure of so many Fayette county men at one time brings the war home all the more, and intensifies the realization that the Huns must be defeated at all costs, and that each part of the great United States must do its part and do it promptly and freely in winning the war.

FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shackelford Sr. held a family reunion at their home on E. Rawling street, Sunday in honor of their son, John A. Shackelford, who left for Camp Sherman Monday morning.

The table was beautifully decorated with flags and flowers and the chair in which the young select was seated was draped in flags.

After the dinner was served the remainder of the day was given over to amusements and enjoyable hospitality participated in by thirty-two guests.

WAR WORK ACTIVITY

One of the notable features of war work is the efficient, unflinching manner with which women have met every development of the physical and moral needs of our soldiers in camp and at the front. Now that our fighters are in France it is realized that they have no homes where they can rest when their furloughs come after their time in the trenches. The French soldiers return to their own people and the British also, when they go to "Blighty". Where can our soldiers go? The American women through the General Federation of Women's Clubs have pledged themselves to build furlough homes for our men, away from Paris, far from the noise of battle. Each member will give a dollar or more as her sympathy with this movement dictates.

The Browning Club and The Cecilians are the local clubs identified with the Grand Federation. Persons not connected with the clubs will also contribute to this wonderful gift to our brave boys over seas, so they may have a real American furlough home.

President Wilson greatly desires that this work shall be quickly done and Mr. Raymond, Fredrick, Chairman of the Committees on Training Camp activities made a trip to France to complete definite plans.

This special service is known as the War Victory Commission. The General Federation gave $5,000 as an initial subscription and many clubs have already sent in their quota.

OFFICERS' SONS SOME SHOTS

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, May 27.—The youthful heirs of certain high officers at Camp Sherman, armed with a 22 caliber rifle for which they had 15 rounds of ammunition, bagged seven squirrels, five birds, a horse and a cow before their offensive was turned back by the appearance of a farmer's wrathful wife near the artillery range near here.

Certain Liberty Bonds and a new bicycle, which recently had been given to the youngsters, were claimed as indemnity. Meanwhile the youngsters are the talk of the camp and secretly their fathers are proud of their marksmanship.

Being patriotic, the farmer's wife only wanted $200 for the horse, which had not been driven for two years, while the value of the cow was in proportion. But the spoils of war must be paid for and the Liberty Bonds and the new bicycle were liquidated to pay for the damage.

Meanwhile, a certain prominent Colonel and his Major are trying to decide what to do with a dead horse and a dead cow.

Work or Fight

The order of Provost Marshal General Crowder last week warning all able bodied men to get busy in the needful work of the time or fight, did not come as a surprise to people who have been at all observant of the trend of affairs throughout the world.

In this great free land of ours that order was nothing more nor less than our own voluntary action in rolling up our sleeves just a few inches further to give the biceps of the strong arm of the nation room to swell and gather the power to deliver the needful blow.

America has done wonders in the work of building her war machine, but we are a long way from top speed yet. All the latent power has not been summoned to action, all the loose cogs in the tremendous machine have not yet been tightened up, there has still been too much lost energy, too much energy expended on pursuits profitable and enjoyable in times of peace but wholly unproductive of good results in the work of war.

We are building, let the few doubting ones be advised, here in America the most complete, the most effective fighting machine the world has ever seen and the work is well along, thanks be to the energy, the patriotism and the ability of the people, on the way to accomplishment. We have a good start. The civilian population—that portion of it which is unable to bear arms in the field—must be mobilized just as our soldiers are mobilized. We must not only quit useless work until after the war, but we must direct our energies along lines which will assist in completing and maintaining our fighting machine.

Following the order of General Crowder, labor is going to be just as well paid, men are going to find just as good a market for their efforts, be they mental or physical, as they have now, perhaps better, but the effect is going to contribute to bring about necessary results. We have been efficient and productive in the pursuits of peace and now we are going to show what we can do in war. The results already have amazed the world and the completion of our project will be the cause of greater wonder.

It's up to us here at home. The idler must work—rich and poor, old and young. All the energy is to be mobilized and correctly directed. None of it is to be misapplied.

We must fight—we must fight with men, with money, with resources, with energy. There is work for all and all must work.

No one is exempt. We must give of our plenty to relieve the suffering of war; we must give to pay the cost of war and we must labor to produce.

General Crowder's order is the most sweeping of the time and will be productive of the greatest good in results to the army and navy and in its effect on the manhood and womanhood of the nation.

The Promise of Plenty

It is early in the season, of course, to offer any prophecy as to crops, but nature has rarely, if ever, given us, hereabouts at least, more beautiful weather. Every form of vegetation is showing the beauty and the vigor of almost perfect conditions, the winds, the rains and the sunshine have been perfectly timed this year.

The home gardeners everywhere are in an ecstasy of delight at the results of their labors. Nature has combined with men to make the fields and gardens this year a picture of prosperity and beauty such as no artist could paint.

What the weeks which reach along in the future between this time and that time when the mature crops are severed from the ground and gathered into the granaries will bring in conditions, no one can say, but we assuredly have a bright promise of abundant harvests and the beauty of it all is an inspiration which spurs us on to redoubled efforts, renders us forgetful of the past and paints the bright rainbow of promise across the black clouds of war and want and woe which have for so many weary months concealed from our vision the bright days of peace which we know are somewhere in the future.

Poetry For Today

GRATITUDE.

"Over there" are murdered babes,
mute evidence of work.
Sanction by the German God, through Prussian and through Turk.

I give thanks, all reverently, that,
perfectly at rest,
My little son can sleep, his hand upon on my breast.

"Over there" are men who worship at a nobler shrine.
Fighting hard to make the world more safe for babes like mine.
May he be a man like these! But now, secure from harm,
My little son can sleep his head upon my arm.

All the thoughts and all the prayers that fill my grateful heart Travel with each soldier lad who sail to do his part
Where the country that I love her faith with mankind keeps.
And fights her fight, the while my little baby sleeps.

MUST FORCE HUNS TO REALIZE AIMS OF UNITED STATES

(Associated Press Correspondence)

London, May 15.—"The object of the war is to carry the spirit of President Wilson into the minds and hearts of the people of Germany," declared Professor Sponser Wilkinson of Oxford in an address on the "Idea of This War." He said:

"The German Emperor and President Wilson are each of them at the head of a great nation, and each of them wields in that nation supreme authority.

"But the two men stand for two antagonistic systems. The German Emperor is never tired of proclaiming that he has received a special commission from God Almighty to educate and instruct the German people and other peoples, after his armies shall have crushed them.

"Mr. Wilson on the other hand, was chosen by the people of the United States to provide over their government. He has no commission to educate them. Their idea is to be allowed to grow and to develop their powers by doing their work. Here is Mr. Wilson's conception of his nation:

"I feel nothing so much as the intensity of the common man. I can pick out in every audience the men who are at ease in their fortunes. But there are in every crowd other men who are listening to hear somebody speak the thing that is stirring in their hearts and minds. It makes a man's heart ache to think that he cannot be sure he is doing it for them; to wonder whether they are longing for something he does not understand. He prays God that something will bring into his conscience what is in theirs, so that the whole nation will feel at last released from its dumbness, feel at last that there is no invisible force holding it back from its goal, feel at last that there is hope and confidence, and that the road may be trodden as if they were brothers, shoulder to shoulder, not asking each other anything about differences of class, not contending for any selfish advance, but united in the common enterprise.

"The object of this war is to carry the spirit of those words into the hearts and minds of the German people. Is that not an object worth living for and dying for?"

F. D. WOODLAND TO ENTER SERVICE

Widely Known Young Horseman of This County, Who Has Been Located at Youngstown the Past Two Years, Leaves Wednesday for Military Service.

Fraud D. Woodland, son of James Woodland, of Bloomingburg and one of the best known young horsemen in Ohio, will enter the military service Wednesday of this week, and expects to be in the Auxiliary Remount service under Capt. Wainwright. At the present time he is secretary of the Ohio Racing Circuit, and for two years has been located at Youngstown.

Regarding his entrance into military service, the Youngstown Telegram says:

"Local harness enthusiasts will deplore the absence of Secretary F. D. Woodland during the coming racing season. However their feelings will be assuaged by the knowledge that Woodland is responding to a higher purpose and is to devote his talents to the great cause of Uncle Sam, in which he enters with the best wishes and kindest feelings of a legion of friends.

"Several weeks ago Woodland enlisted in the Auxiliary Remount service under Capt. Wainwright, a branch of army work in which his knowledge and judgment of horses will be used to the best advantage. Through delay on the part of the war officials his papers have not arrived yet, and being in the list of selects to leave next Wednesday for Atlanta, Ga., he will accompany the delegation pending his transfer to Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C., which will be his future headquarters.

"While it will be next to impossible for him to return here for the July meeting Woodland nevertheless will receive and is entitled to full credit for whatever success is attained. Through his untiring efforts a week of racing has been arranged for Southern park trotting track that promises to surpass anything ever attempted on a half-mile oval. What is declared to be an unparalleled feat has been worked out by Woodland in getting together in a match race half a dozen of the country's foremost pacers, among them Single G. Russell Boy, Roan Hal, Hal Boy and Alexander the Great.

"During his two years here Woodland has furnished Youngstown and vicinity with the best racing the fans ever have had. He was able to do this because he knows the racing game from A to Z and also because of the high esteem in which he is held by horsemen throughout the country. Although young in years Woodland is a veteran in experience and it is said of him that in his dozen years of service in the horse world he has never made an enemy. He is the youngest racing secretary in the country and also the youngest starter of horses.

"Woodland has arranged with Chas. Duffy of Cleveland, to look after the detail work in connection with the July meet."

TESTED RECIPES FOR WAR TIMES

MILK SOUPS
Use Them Instead of so Much Meat.

The United States Food Administration is encouraging in every way the use of milk. Since it is one of the best meat substitutes and since meat is upon the list of foods to be conserved, let us modify our eating habits accordingly. Try one of these milk soups instead of a serving of meat.

Peanut Soup
4 cups thin white sauce; 1/2 cup peanut butter; 1 1/2 teaspoons salt.
Add peanut butter to white sauce and serve at once.

Cream of Asparagus Soup.
To one cup white sauce add one cup milk and one cup asparagus puree, one cup of the water in which the asparagus was cooked may be used for part of the liquid.

Corn Bread
2 cups corn meal; 2 cups sweet milk (whole or skim); 4 teaspoons baking powder; 1 tablespoon sugar; 2 tablespoons fat; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 egg (may be omitted).
Mix dry ingredients. Add milk, well beaten egg, and melted fat. Beat well. Bake in shallow pan for about 30 minutes.

Cornmeal and Meat
2 cups of cornmeal; 6 cups water; 1 tablespoon fat; 1 onion; 2 cups tomatoes; 1 pound pork sausage.
Make a mush by stirring the cornmeal and 1 1/2 teaspoons salt into boiling water. Cook 45 minutes. Brown onion in fat, add pork sausage and stir until slightly browned. Add salt, pepper and tomato.

A sweet pepper is an addition. Grease baking dish, put in layer of corn meal mush, add seasoned meat, and cover with mush. Bake one-half hour. Serve six.

Indian Pudding
4 cups milk (whole or skim); 1/4 cup corn meal; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon ginger; 1-3 cup of molasses.
Cook milk and meal in a double boiler 20 minutes; add molasses, salt and ginger. Pour into greased pudding dish and bake 2 hours in a slow oven, or use your fireless cooker. Serve with milk. This makes a good and nourishing dessert. Serves six.

AUTOS STOLEN

The daily newspapers tell of Ford automobiles being stolen right along at Columbus, Chillicothe, Springfield, Dayton and other places. The time for automobile thieves to get in their work is when you are not with your machine, when it is parked or in your garage. The cheapest insurance against theft is to have a Ram anti-theft lock put on your Ford auto. We install them in five minutes for $2.50. Two keys with each lock. Hitchcock & Dalbey.

FARM TRACTORS IN FAYETTE MEETING LABOR PROBLEM

Day and night some of the farm tractors in use in Fayette county have been kept busy during the rush days of spring farm work, and one farm tractor has been found capable of doing the work of 6 to 12 horses, thereby releasing one man for each three horses, so that the tractor is really filling a most important place in meeting the labor shortage and keeping the crop acreage up to the standard which it is desired shall be maintained to insure sufficient food for America and her allies.

Scores of the tractors are now in constant use in the county, and have been for weeks, and as the result the labor of scores of farm hands has been made unnecessary.

Many of the tractors, particularly in the preparation of the soil, or in plowing, have been kept on the move each night as well as in the day time, and running a tractor four or five days with the only interval being the time required to replenish the water, oil and gas supply.

The ordinary tractor will move a long, pulling the tremendous load, at a rate of speed much in excess of the walk of a horse, with the result that much more ground can be covered and little or no time is required for resting the "horse."

There is every indication that next year will witness a much greater number of tractors in use in Fayette county, and by that time some experienced stages will have been passed and still more practical improvements introduced in the building of some makes of the iron horse.

JUST A BARRACK ROOM BALLAD OF SARGEANT DIXON'S MESS HALL

Us soldiers at mess Are wont to guess What kind of meat We have to eat. But none can tell Just what the deuce Is on that plate 'Midst all the juice.

It might be pork It might be stork Or alligator, Or quinine steak, Frog, ape or rain, None cares a fig; When hungry, one Just starts to dig.

Mendoza has sworn It is deadly bore; And Hyland swears He's tasted hares; Buck and Henry Are said to have told But then they eat last When the scent is cold.

Says Blackmore, It sure is poor, And is for me Some mystery. But Passmore, he Just grins and eats And does some Marvelous forkish feats.

Our wagers rough On meat so tough All comes to naught, As well they ought. Here ends my yarn, No bets go through, It isn't fair They have a ZOO.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Following are some extracts of a letter, from a Washington C. H. boy, now Somewhere in France.

Somewhere in France, April 22, 1918.

My Dear Wife:
Just a few lines stating, we are all still sleeping in the barns. And we don't have to worry about somewhere to wash our face and hands, as there is a large water trough just outside of the barn. Although some mornings we have to break the ice, so you see it is cold. We are certainly living high over here, but it is high in a hay mow.

But you see we could not live much higher on $12.00 a month. The French girls wear wooden shoes and every one you see, always has a smile for you, even the old ladies.

This is a funny place; the barns join the houses, and the French people live in one room and the cows in the other. The houses are all built of clay, cement and tile, the roofs are made of clay. We just came out of the trenches, and we had a fine time while there. We were there seven days and nights. Yes you can send me all the Camels you wish and I will get them and send me your photo too. I am laying here this morning, wondering where my next package of Bull Durham is coming from.

We just got paid Friday, but we can't spend it, as this is no place to spend and this money does not look like money. Send me some papers if possible every week, for I get lonely some with out anything to read. Will bring this to a close, with love and fond wishes, your husband, EDWARD INLOW.

WHISKEY DEALERS MAKE MILLIONS THROUGH ADVANCE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Louisville, Ky., May 27.—War and Kentucky whiskey have produced a number of millionaires. The story of its accomplishment forms an interesting chapter in present day history.

Eight months ago distillers were gloomy over the prospect of ruin as the result of enforced closing of their plants for a period of two years and the aggressive advance of the prohibition movement. Today, through whiskey price advancement, according to statements made in the Louisville wholesale liquor district, practically all have become well to do, or have been thrust into the millionaire class. About twenty men in Louisville alone are said to have become wealthy as a result of an advance of approximately $2.50 per gallon, in whiskey prices since September 1, last year.

One man, long identified with the whiskey business, said that whiskey owners and dealers who have held supplies have made money so fast that they hardly know what to do with it. One of them, he said, has made arrangements to provide annuities for certain of his older employees.

SPOILED MEAT SOLD TO ARMY

Washington, May 27.—Sale of spoiled meat and other food products to the army, with the knowledge that the food was "unfit for human consumption," is charged in complaints issued by the federal trade commission against Morris & Company and Wilson & Company, two of the five great packing corporations.

It is alleged that thousands of pounds of unfit meat and chickens were sold to Camp Travis, Tex. Most of it was detected and condemned, but it is said some of it may have been passed and consumed.

Details of the information upon which the action is based were withheld by the commission. The announcement and correspondence given out with it, however, show that the alleged offenses occurred last December and are the same upon which indictments were obtained in Texas by the department of justice after an investigation of reports by the food administration. The indictments were dropped because they were returned under section 4 of the food law, which carries no penalty.

Since then both the food administration and the trade commission have continued their investigation. If the complaint now announced should be sustained, the commission could do no more than order the packers to "cease and desist" from the practice. Upon repetition of offenses may be hailed into a federal court.

A further report to the food administration from E. A. Peden, federal administrator for Texas, is expected this week. Officials of the administration say they probably will find some penalty to fit the cases even if only on the grounds of food wastage.

Correspondence between Mr. Peden and R. W. Boyden, chief of the enforcement division of the food administration, shows that Mr. Peden reported his belief that the basic trouble in the case was the attempt of the packers to do business without proper facilities. As to the unfit chickens, it is charged that they were prepared in unclean surroundings by barefoot Mexicans in an unscreened room and shipped partly cleaned.

FRANKFORT WOMAN LEAVES HUSBAND WHO IS DISLOYAL

Leaving her husband because she is a patriotic American, and denouncing him to the authorities as disloyal, Marguerite May has gone back to live at the home of her father, Russell Cory, in Frankfort.

Some 4 or 5 years ago a young German, F. H. W. May, went to Frankfort to do interior decorating on several buildings. While there he met and married Marguerite Cory. Some time after the wedding the young couple went to Germany, where they spent a year. The young wife was by no means enamored of life in Germany; she did not like German manners or customs, and compared the way they had to live in Germany very unfavorably with the way they could live in this country.

They returned shortly before the outbreak of the war and have been living in Columbus. May had never been naturalized and expressed no intention of doing so. He was a German and remained a German, being named after two or three German emperors.

He espoused the cause of Germany, though he did not go back to fight for her, and continued to make pro-German speeches, especially to his wife. She was a loyal American and May finally made threats against her, so she stated, and at last she made a report to the federal authorities of her husband's threats and pro-German utterances and opinions. He was arrested in Columbus, at their home at 55 East Norwich avenue, on May 18. When arrested, it is reported, he had a revolver and a knife, in violation of the federal law relative to the possession of firearms by enemy aliens.

After May was arrested, Russell Cory went to Columbus and took his daughter back to his home in Frankfort—Chillicothe News.

THIEVES ACTIVE

The Columbus Ohio State Journal of May 19 says:

"In a ditch near Bexley yesterday police recovered the auto of T. W. Hagleson, London, stolen from near the circus grounds Friday night. Four other autos were stolen within an hour yesterday. That of George Guthrie, Zanesville, from in front of the McKinley Monument; J. B. Wheeler, South Charleston, from Broad and Wall streets; W. B. Welton, 123 Kenworth Road, from the Athletic Club, and another from the Overland Dunkle Company, Fourth and Gay Streets."

TWO MILLION MEN "RAISED"

Washington, May 27.—Pay increases for nearly 2,000,000 railroad employees, effective next Sunday and retroactive to last Jan. 1, were announced by Director General McAdoo, carrying out substantially recommendations of the railroad wage commission.

The aggregate of the increases probably will be more than $300,000,000 a year, half of which will be distributed within a few weeks as back pay in lump sums ranging from about $100 to nearly $200 each. The director general departed from the wage commission's recommendations in the following particulars:

The principle of the basic eight-hour day is recognized, but owing to exigencies of the war situation, hours of employment are not actually reduced and overtime is to be paid pro rata; future adjustments of pay are to be made on the basis of eight hours.

In addition to the ordinary scale of increase, day laborers, employed mainly on track work, are to get at least 2½ cents an hour more than they received last Dec. 31.

A minimum of 55 cents an hour is established for the shop trades, including machinists, boilermakers and blacksmiths.

Women are to receive the same similar work in different localities negroes are to get the same as white men for similar employment.

To work out a multitude of inequalities of pay among employees doing similar work in different localities and other injustice caused by varying rules of employment and conditions of organization, the director general created a new board of railroad wages and working conditions, consisting of three labor representatives and three railway executives, which will conduct extensive investigations and recommend wage and other employment changes.

All increases now ordered will be determined according to a percentage scale, based on pay received in December, 1915, and any increases which have been allowed within that time will be deducted. In many cases raises in pay in the last two and a half years are about equal to the increases now approved and consequently those employees will get little or no more.

Men working on the monthly, daily, hourly, piece work and by the mile basis, will benefit by the new allowances, and members of the four leading railway brotherhoods, whose pay was raised through operation of the Adamson act, are to receive from 10 to 40 per cent additional, a smaller increase than they had asked of railroad shortly before the government took control.

The wage order applies to all employees of the 164 roads now under federal management, but not to the so-called short lines, unless they are retained by the government after July 1. It affects employees of terminal, union station and switching companies, lighters, ferries and tugs owned by railroads, but not employees of railroad boat lines on the lakes, rivers or coastwise traffic.
